Thanksgiving Turkology Puzzle

TEN TURKEYS FREE

SOUVENIR

WHO TRY FREE

On this and the following pages are printed the names of firms and phrases IN TURKISH. Can you read them? No? Of course not. Well, that's where the puzzle comes in. Listen! We'll give you a "tip." On other pages of this issue of The Times-Dispatch you will find the letters of the English alphabet printed in a small boxed space, and accompanied by the similar letter of the Turkish alphabet (in some instances this box may be included in an advertisement). See? Turn to every page in this paper until you have found the entire alphabet—then, well the rest ought to be easy.

The puzzle consists of finding the names of the advertisers and phrases and making a list of them IN ENGLISH. The list must be numbered to correspond to the order in which they are printed below. Remember, the Turks begin their lines FROM THE RIGHT HAND, or backwards, so "NWORB NHOJ" reads "John Brown." It's easy, but you better be careful. To each of ten of the persons sending in correct answers will be presented a nice fat Thanksgiving Turkey FREE. Neatness and uniqueness will be big factors in the selection of the lucky ten. You may study out some unique way of preparing your list, or your list may be neat and clean and put together in an artistic way. These little things will count with the committee awarding the turkeys. BUT, even if you do not get a turkey, you WILL receive a very pretty souvenir as a reward for your interest, and you'll undoubtedly have a lot of fun, anyhow, in working on "TURKOLOGY." Answers must be in The Times-Dispatch office not later than Tuesday, November 28, at 12 noon. Address "TURKOLOGY," 916 East Main Street, Richmond, Va.

A corrected list of advertisers will be printed IN ENGLISH next Wednesday, November 29, each advertisement appearing in the same numbered position as is occupied to-day by the Turkish ad.
